Charles M. Campbell worked as a Surveyor continuously throughout the Maritime Marshland Rehabilitation Administration's (MMRA) entire program 1950 – 1966 and beyond with its successors, ARDA and MRMS. All of these units collected much information re dyking problems, river flooding, etc. and provided perhaps the only flooding information during the extreme floods of 1955 – 1956 (January) and February 14 1970 from which two separate studies and elimination or alleviation proposals were based. No remedial action was ever taken as recommended in these proposals. The 1955 – 1956 flood crested at geodetic elevation 32.0; the other flood crested at geodetic elevation 33.0. The elevation 33.0 collected 3.0 feet of water in the Subway Overpass of the road to Lower Truro and put at least 6 inches of water over the floor of the bowling lanes on Juniper Street resulting in the protection dyke surrounding the present facility.

WWI Layton Diaries

Lt. Francis Layton (born Jan. 11 1888; died 1972 in Vancouver, BC) of Truro was the son of Norman J. Layton (born 1849) and Elizabeth H. McGregor, of Wilmot, Anna. Co.; buried in Robie Street Cemetery, Truro. Francis Layton joined the 121st Battalion Western Irish, New Westminster, BC. He wrote the following five diaries during the First World War.

2016.53.1a Diary 1 May 18 1916 – September 1 1916
 Diary 2 September 2 1916 – January 5 1917

2016.53.1b Diary 3 January 5 1917 – March 4 1917
 Diary 4 March 12 1917 – December 26 1917
 Diary 5 January 12 1918 – December 26 1918

“Jotham Blanchard McCully was born on 19 January 1819 the son of William McCully and Elizabeth Arnold of Debert. He resided in Truro and married Isabelle McConnell on 27 July 1844. They had ten children. He is believed to have been an engineer by profession, and was involved in several attempts to locate treasure on Oak Island in the mid-19th century. In 1945 he became manager of operations of the Truro Company, formed to raise money for the treasure hunt by selling shares. The company began digging in 1850, but by 1851 had run out of funds and ceased operations. In 1861 McCully was corporate secretary of the newly-formed Oak Island Association of Truro, which was able to raise a large sum of money. With a work force of 63 men and 33 horses, the Association made several attempts to solve the problem of water flooding in the “money pit”. McCully wrote of these attempts in the Liverpool Transcript on 16 October 1862. However, this work was also unsuccessful, the money ran out and the company folded in 1864. In 1866 McCully participated in a third company, the Oak Island Eldorado Company [Halifax Company], which again raised funds and continued operations. But it also failed and closed down in 1867. McCully died in Truro on 9 September 1899.”

Creator: Municipality of the Town of Truro (Colchester County, N.S.) (1875-)

Administrative history: The community of Truro is located in Colchester County, Nova Scotia and was established early in the eighteenth century by Acadian families. Following the expulsion, it was resettled first by New England planters, then Loyalists. At that time it was known as the Township of Truro; however this was mainly a geographic designation. When the Colchester District of Halifax County was legally established in 1792, Truro was within the new district's boundaries. It subsequently became part of the newly-established County of Colchester in 1835. Until 1875, local government in Truro was provided by the Colchester Court of General Sessions of the Peace. That year Truro became a town by an act of incorporation. Truro was geographically part of the Municipal District of Colchester; however as an incorporated town it was administered by its own elected council. The council maintains things like sewers, water, streets and roads, property assessment, police, building inspection, lighting, and animal control. The town imposes taxes which are collected by the town clerk and administered by the treasurer.

Custodial history: Records were donated by the Colchester-East Hants District Library, Truro, in 1990.

Harry Byers Langille Collection

These materials came from an old house in Marshville, Pictou County that was being torn down. It could have been the home of James D. Langille but I am not sure. The majority of the correspondence was written to Harry Byers Langille, son of James D. Langille. He graduated from the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in 1914. He worked for the Department of Agriculture in Marshville and in Sydney ca 1915. There is correspondence regarding an accident that his brother George Chester Langille had and whether they would sue the company and correspondence from the boy's father on behalf of Chester as well. During this time both Chester and James D. passed away.

William McKim

The following ledgers are thought to be all from the family of William McKim, Magistrate, of Great Village (determined by a couple of volunteers who have studied William McKim, who was a Magistrate). He was born 4 December 1802 and died 12 May 1888. His wife, Mary Chisholm, died 2 May 1870, aged 70 years. Both are buried in Glenholme (Folly Village) Cemetery. They had at least eight children. William and a son, Thomas R. McKim, were shoe makers. One of the ledgers is a school workbook that belonged to a daughter, Isabella. These ledgers were purchased in Great Village a number of years ago by an antique dealer from Quebec. They were then sold on eBay in 2003. All ledgers are in very poor condition.

- 2008.34.1 1816 – 1837. Ledger of Mary McKim; she sold wool and other goods, and spun.
- 2008.34.2 1839 – 1843. Ledger of shoemaker, plus selling other goods.
- 2008.34.3 1857 – 1861. Ledger; record of the transportation of iron from [Acadia Mines] by oxcart down to the ports [Great Village and Spencers Point]. It also records traffic in the opposite direction: provisions, bricks and fire clay. A collection of loose papers mentions the cargoes of several vessels: “Emma”, “Truro”, “Planet”, etc. [Could these be the ships which transported iron ore to Saint John from whence it was ferried to England?]
- 2008.34.4 1849 – 1872. Ledger of judgments (William McKim).
- 2008.34.5 1857 – 1863. Ledger of shoemaker.

- 2018.01.02 Revised List of Electors, Lower Onslow Dist. #143 for 1925; also in this notebook are men who worked on the Isgonish Marsh from 1925 – 1934.
- 2018.01.03 Isgonish store ledger, 1820s – 1850s. It is thought it belonged to David Graham (d. 1860), Lower Belmont (Isgonish/Chiganois) along the present day (2018) Plains Road. David was married to Susanna Mary Rude (1788 – 1871). In her genealogy – The Roode Family – Jane Wile has 7 documented children born to David and Mary Graham; however, this ledger records 14 children. The names in the ledger, other than James McCulloch, Merchant of Debert, are mostly names found in the local of David Graham's home, i.e. Joseph Crowe; James Crowe; Solomon Rude. Also, in that day (1839), supplies were still being transported mainly along the Bay and "I know the boats came way up into the head of the Isgonish Marsh... literally a stone's throw from where David Graham had settled." – Stacey Culgin.

David Graham Ledger Book, by Stacey Culgin, January 2018

This little ledger book, has come to light, thanks to Harry Goodwin, of Lower Onslow. It belonged to Harry's Graham family. It is in a deteriorated state but much of it is still legible. The earliest date is 1839. David Graham appears to be an early trader or merchant in Isgonish (Lower Belmont). He handles barrels of fish, potatoes, oats, molasses, flour and sugar. He also vends shingle nails, fencing posts, buttons, pigs, candles, gloves, cotton, trousers, and silk, bowls, wine, apron chick, shoes, calico, breeches, barley, buckwheat, corn, juniper knees, braces, an almanac, Indian meal, knives and lambs. His customers, of whom a number are his close neighbors, are Joseph Crowe; Ebenezer Joseph; William Graham; Solomon Rude; Alexander Upham; James Crowe and George Taylor. The last transaction recorded is in 1854.

David Graham died 16 September 1860 and is buried in the Isgonish Marsh Burying Grounds. He married on the 17th day of April 1805 to Susannah Mary Rude (1788-1871), who was born in Onslow Township, the daughter of Solomon Rude & Sarah Wilson. David & Mary had 12 children in total, as recorded on the front cover of this account book, they were ~ Margaret (1805); Sarah (1807); Elizabeth (1809); Hannah (May 5 1811); James (1813?); William (October 6 1815); David (1819?); Lucy (1820); Hugh (1822); _____? (maybe Samuel) (1827); George (May 9 1828) and John (March 5 1831).

A map, recorded in 1799 by James Fulton, outlines the properties in the Village of Chiganois. David Graham owns a number of parcels of land at the head of the marsh, an ideal location to receive and ship merchandize. At this time the main source of transport was by boat up and down the Bay. Local tradition tells us that boats came up into the Isgonish Marsh to load potatoes and other produce from area farmers, keeping in mind this was one hundred and fifty years before the Aboiteau was built to keep the tidal waters off the marsh.

2018.03.04 Isgonish Marsh Book, 1911 – 1917, 1920, 1922, 1923, 1927, 1929 – 1931. Given to the donor by Cheryl Crowe, daughter of Ralph Crowe (son of Frank Crowe; son of Elbridge Crowe).

These letters were mainly all received by Malinda Pratt between 1927 and 1947. The senders are identified in the brief write up beside each entry. Malinda Pratt (1874 – 1950) was from Middle Stewiacke, daughter of Charles Dunlap and Susan Pratt (she kept her mother’s last name and is listed as Pratt on her birth record; therefore it is assumed she was illegitimate). Malinda married John David Pratt (1864 – 1924), son of George and Janet (Thompson) Pratt, Greenfield. Family genealogy is included to show who was writing to Malinda Pratt. Her name is spelled Malinda on her birth record but also appears as Melinda and Milinda throughout the letters and envelopes.

Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing fonds

Date: 1964 – 1979 (Creation)

Physical description: ca. 320 cm of photographs; 1 textual record; ca. 160 slides

Creator: Nova Scotia. Department of Agriculture and Marketing (1885 – 2000)

Administrative history: In 1885 the Central Board of Agriculture was abolished and the Department of Agriculture established to replace it. Initially under the control of the Provincial Secretary, in 1926 the Department of Agriculture was merged in the new Department of Natural Resources. In 1930 the Department of Natural Resources was broken up, the Department of Agriculture reinstated and a minister of agriculture appointed. In 1934 the department was renamed Agriculture and Marketing. The first modern Agriculture and Marketing Act, passed in 1939, gave the department responsibility for agricultural organizations; encouraging cattle, horse and poultry breeding, and horticulture, seed-growing and dairying; prevention, control and elimination of plant diseases, insects and pests -- especially the apple maggot; soil improvement; protection of cranberries, foxberries and blueberries; prevention and treatment of contagious diseases among bees; county and district agricultural exhibitions and fairs; agricultural education; grading, packaging, inspection and sale of natural products; distribution and sale of milk; and settlement of farm lands. In 2000 the department merged with the Department of Fisheries and Aquaculture to form the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries.

Administrative history: Colchester County Academy was founded as one of the original academies provided for by the 1841 County Academy Act. In that year three trustees were appointed and a county school was established in a temporary location on Truro's Walker Street. The academy system required students to pay a fee and upkeep of the school building was provided through provincial grants. In 1857 the academy moved to the Model School, which was affiliated with the Truro Normal School, and became an institution for teachers-in-training to practice teaching. During this time, the school was better known as the Model School, and accepted, primary, intermediate and high school level students. In order to qualify for provincial government grants, the high school department of the Model School was re-organized as the Colchester County Academy, however it was now a public high school and remained in the Model School location. The Academy again changed locations in 1903 when new Academy building was built. In Truro, as elsewhere in Nova Scotia, the county academy system gradually became less relevant as rural schools improved. In 1930, the provincial government extended the county academy grant to all secondary schools in the province and eventually other high school level institutions were constructed elsewhere in the county. By the 1950s, the school was generally referred to as Truro Academy or Truro Senior High School. The school was closed in 1970 and its students were transferred to the new Cobequid Educational Centre.

Custodial history: Student registers and class photographs were donated by Michael Hansen, Principal of Cobequid Educational Centre on 21 November 1996. Within this accession were the records of the Willow Street School. The custodial history of the remaining records is unknown.

Donated to the Colchester Historical Society on November 21 1996 by Michael Hansen, Principal, Cobequid Educational Centre. These records consist of students' names and record of marks from 1914 to 1970 for grades 9 – 12. There is one ledger from Willow Street School for Grades 7, 8 and 9 from 1933 – 1938. Also given in this donation were composite photos of grade 12 and staff (framed) for 1962, 1963, 1965 – 1970; these are stored in the photo collection.

Colchester County Academy Time Capsule

The galvanized metal box was in good shape when removed from the cornerstone of the building. It was taken to a blacksmith to be opened. The time capsule was taken from the Colchester County Academy building 4 September 1996 and opened September 6 at the Colchester Historical Museum by David Gilroy, Town Clerk, and Nan Harvey, Archivist. The articles had been placed in the corner stone of the New Academy on July 1 1902. At that time, the "inscription or scroll," mentioned in the list, which was included in the capsule, was not in the box.

Samuel Archibald, 3rd, the second son of James and Rebecca, was born in Truro October 14th, 1784. He was married to Elizabeth, the youngest daughter of Matthew and Janet Archibald, February 19th, 1807. He was a very active man and forward in every good cause. He held a commission of the Peace for more than forty years, and was an elder in the Presbyterian Church of Truro for about the same length of time. He purchased the farm on which his two sons now reside, shortly after he was married, and about the year 1815 he built a house, being the same in which his son John E. now resides. Here he spent the remainder of his life. His wife died April 3rd, 1846, aged 60 years. He was married again to Sarah, the eldest daughter of William and Susan Archibald, of Stewiacke, widow of the late Josiah Stewart, of Musquodoboit, in the month of October, 1847. He died April 10th, 1864, in the eightieth year of his age, and his widow died December 28th, 1869, aged 68 years.

Raymond Smith Letters, 1916, WWI.

1999.50.1.1 June 24 1916. Letter to mother – no news from Canada. Received letters from Mary Shaw – looking forward to meeting her. Leave had been stopped, no prospects of starting again. Doesn't know when he will see England "Blighty" again, possibly not until "après le guere" (after the war). Mentions "Jack's and my hut", Sergeant Gooding, who rode back to "all the units which were cut up so badly". Saw Teddy (Forest?) and Harold, some friends lost, others okay. Two new officers: McLeod and Freeman, Dalmer. Duty every other evening until 10:00 PM, other evenings spent at "B" Company with (Richard?) Bill Hanna and two others.

Raymond Smith Letters, 1917, WWI.

1999.50.1.2a January 13 1917. "Somewhere". Letter to mother. Refers to her letter of December 21 1916, Don McGregor chosen for Oxford Rhodes Scholar. Surprised to hear of (W?)avie Johnson's marriage. Asks if Goldie enlisted. Asks for "H. A.'s" hospital address. Received parcel from Alice and ? – cakes of tobacco. Brothers- and sisters-in law good to him. Letter from Bill Hanna, Christmas in London and several other "old cyclists". Bill expects to be in England another month or two before "coming out here" as an officer. Sometimes sees DeWitt Young who just had appendix out. Letter from Chauncey who had worst Christmas ever, in a strange hospital and had fond memories of 1914 and 1915 Christmas "out here with the boys". He has been passed for active service again, presently on ten days leave in B---. He arrived in town same day Sydney Willet left. Many mentioned Syd and Miss Bannister an eve at her house. Read two interesting books – "Burning Daylight" and "The Caravaners".

1999.50.1.2b January 20 1917. "Somewhere". Letter to mother. Letters received from "Boffie" (Flerrie?) and his mother, also one from Lloyd and parcel of eats from Jean Craig who is teaching in Saskatchewan. Work light entertainment: read, studying, card playing, cinema, YMCA – entertainment by the troops, for the troops. January 21, giving up smoking for one week along with Sergeant Gooding. They also run every morning before breakfast.

HM3The Wood Manufacturing Company of Londonderry Station, N.S.

In the early part of 1889, a company of the above name was incorporated in the Village of Londonderry Station, Nova Scotia. Principals of the company were local people, seemingly led by Leander Carson Layton of Great Village. Most company correspondence seemed to pass through his hands or emanate from him. The company struggled financially from the beginning, existing in some form until at least 1894 – 1895.

Biographical Note

Archibald Woodbury McLelan was born in Londonderry (GREAT VILLAGE), Nova Scotia on 24 December 1824, the son of Gloud Wilson McLelan and Martha Spencer. In 1854 he married Caroline Metzler of Halifax, NS and they had three sons and one daughter. McLelan was educated at Great Village, Nova Scotia and then at Mount Allison Wesleyan Academy, Sackville, New Brunswick. After graduation he managed his father's shipping business and store in Great Village before the latter's death in 1858. In the 1860s he went into partnership with his brother-in-law, John M. Blaikie, and built ships on the Great Village River. His business prospered during the 1870s, and during those years he also became involved in the Cobequid Marine Insurance Company. After his father's death, McLelan succeeded him as representative for Colchester County in the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly. He held this position until 1867 when he was elected as a Member of Parliament for Colchester. With Premier Joseph Howe, he held an anti-confederation stance until it became clear their opposition was useless. He then fought for better terms for Nova Scotia within confederation. In 1869, he resigned as MP, was called to the Senate, and was also appointed one of three commissioners overseeing the construction of the Intercolonial Railway. McLelan entered Sir John A. Macdonald's federal cabinet as president of the council, 1881-82, and served successively as minister of marine and fisheries, 1882-85, minister of finance, 1885-87, and postmaster general, 1887-88. On 10 July 1888 he accepted the position of lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia. Archibald Woodbury McLelan died on 26 June 1890 at Halifax, before his term as lieutenant-governor was completed.

Gloud Wilson McLelan was born on 18 April 1796 in Great Village, Nova Scotia, the son of David McLelan and Mary Durling (Durning). On 26 December 1822 he married Martha Spencer in Londonderry, Nova Scotia and they had one son, Archibald Woodbury McLelan and two daughters, Adelaide McLelan (married to John Blaikie) and Margaret McLelan (married to James Campbell). Eventually he took his son and his son-in-law John M. Blaikie into the firm. In 1838 he was elected to the provincial House of Assembly for Londonderry Township. After two re-elections, he was defeated in 1847 and returned to his business affairs. In 1851 he returned to the assembly as member for Colchester County and he represented this riding until his death on 6 April 1858 in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

“We are fortunate to have in our Colchester Historical Society Archives, Truro, Nova Scotia, a hand-copied music notebook. “Mary Miller Her Book” and the date “1766” are inscribed on the fly leaf. This small book contains thirteen psalm tunes. Nine of the tunes are in two parts (melody and bass); the other four have only the melody line. The titles of these tunes included are French, London, York, Dundee, Elgin, Martyrs, Dublin, Hundred Psalm Tune, Abbys, Davids, Newton, Marys, and Southwell. The tunes are written on five-line staves in fasola notation. No texts are given for the psalm tunes but the titles are decorated and a number of child-like coloured drawings are included. This book is similar to those used for singing schools: two pages at the front are devoted to theoretical aspects of music and the fasola notational system.

Nancy F. Vogan, of the Department of Music, Mount Allison University, has been doing extensive research into early music books in North America. She presented a paper to the Planters Studies Conference at Acadia University, Nova Scotia in October 1990 which was published in a book entitled Making Adjustments Change and Continuity in Planter Nova Scotia 1759 – 1800 by Margaret Conrad, Editor.”

- NF35.2 1903. Truro, Nova Scotia: The Hub of the Province – published for Lewis Rice. This edition is a little different from the blue covered one published at the same time. There are some different photos not found in the blue covered edition such as the Glebe House on Priest’s Hill in Victoria Park. There is another copy in A141.

Circa 1915. Autograph Remembrances: “Lest we forget”. Blank notebook published by G. O. Fulton, Truro, NS.

“Nova Scotia / Truro Curling Club

Blanchard, Henry Blair (“Hank”) (Skip) [Henry Blanchard]

Born in Saint John, N.B., in 1918, Hank Blanchard has only been curling since 1946 when he joined his present Club. An enthusiast from the outset, his game has steadily improved to a point where he was successful in winning this year's provincial title. He formed his present rink this year and evidently hit a winning combination. A veteran of four years' service with the Royal Canadian Navy in World War II, he is a General Insurance Salesman in business life today.

Mann, Avard Burpee (Third) [Avard Mann]

Avard was born in Elgin, N.B., on September 18, 1894, but did not start curling until he joined the Truro Club in 1944. He has shown curling talent from the outset and was successful in winning the Nova Scotia Provincial Junior Curling Competition. In business life he is associated with an auto body shop.

Henry, Charles Edward “Ted” (Second) [Charles Edward Henry]

A transplanted Manitoban, Ted was born in that Province on October 4, 1915 and did his first curling at Oak River, Manitoba, in 1936. Ted interrupted his curling long enough to serve with the R.C.N.R. from 1941-45 and joined his present Club in 1949. This is the first time that he has ever been on a championship curling rink. He is employed by the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture.

Hatfield, Laurence Seldon “Larry” (Lead) [Laurence Seldon Hatfield]

A native Maritimer, Larry was born in Brookville, N.S., in 1919 and has been a curler since 1945, when he joined his present Club. Hockey, baseball, hunting and fishing are other sports in which Larry is an active participant.”

Halifax Explosion

History of these records:

Halifax Explosion, December 6, 1917.

Some of the records from the Truro Relief Committee – George W. Stuart, Chairman and his assistants who looked after the paper work on the casualties from Halifax in all aspects of the operation.

6.5 cm. of textual records which include:

- Correspondence

- 3 hardcover note books

- 1 soft cover notebook

- Statements from J.C. B. Olive Funeral Home

- 3 booklets on the explosion

Added: Photocopies of Truro Daily News and Halifax Herald of the day pertaining to the Explosion

- Transcriptions of any hand written documents

When it was learned an Explosion had taken place in Halifax the Truro citizens turned to help in any way they could. A train was dispatched to Halifax later the same morning with doctors, nurses and fireman on board. By the afternoon a train from Halifax was back with many injured and homeless people. The Truro people had been busy asking the citizens to bring bedding, food, etc. to help look after these people. Three contingent hospitals were set up at the Fire Station, the Academy and Court House and were ready to receive the wounded when they arrived. Later the Military Hospital, Willow Street was also used. By April 6, 1918 all patients had been released from hospital.

The Citizens Relief Committee met and a resolution passed that the Willow Street Military Hospital remains in commission for at least a week or 10 days longer. There are still patients needing care in the hospital. Was shocked to be told the hospital was closing immediately and the patients removed. Mr. Stuart called for a full Committee meeting at the earliest moment. When they found out the hospital was going to closed they simply said “NO” and if more money was required to pay all the bills just call them for further contributions. Over $9,000.00 has been contributed and an enormous amount of food stuff and clothing. There will be enough money to pay all the bills up to the time the hospital will be closed and considerable amount left to hand over to the Relief Committee in Halifax.

ND5 Municipality of the County of Colchester fonds

Date: 1899-1955 (Creation)

Physical description: 7 cm of textual records

Creator: Municipality of the County of Colchester (1879-)

Administrative history: The Municipality of the County of Colchester was created in 1879 when the Nova Scotia government passed the County Incorporation Act, the forerunner of the later Municipal Act. The Act prescribed that, "The Inhabitants of every County and Sessional District in this Province . . . shall be a body corporate under the name of the Municipality of the respective county or district, as the case may be . . .". Thus, twenty-four rural municipalities were created on the basis of the existing sessional boundaries of twelve counties and twelve districts in six divided counties. In Colchester County, the boundaries of the Sessions district and the county had been coextensive, and the 1879 Act created a single municipal unit in the county, the Municipality of the County of Colchester. The new rural municipalities were run by elected councils. Generally, the rural municipalities assumed all of the local government powers of the Sessions, which included: poor houses; licences for intoxicating liquor; ferries, wharves, and markets; paying for the administration of justice; tax collection; contracts; salaries; presiding officers; and general supervision. When the County Incorporation Act was replaced by the Municipal Act, the basis of county administration remained very much the same.

(Colchester County) fonds

See also: ND28

Date: 1892-1953 (Creation)

Physical description: 63 cm of textual records

Creator: Nova Scotia. County Courts. District Four. (Colchester County) (1874-)

Administrative history: The legislation establishing the Nova Scotia County Courts was passed in 1874, although the courts did not come into operation until the Act was proclaimed in August 1876. The Act divided the province into judicial districts, each presided over by a federally appointed judge. Colchester County and Hants County were combined to form District Four. The new Nova Scotia County Courts divested the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia of some of its original civil jurisdiction, which it had exclusively exercised since the statutory abolition, in 1841, of the Inferior Courts of Common Pleas (county/district/township). The County Courts heard actions for debt not exceeding $400, tort actions for damages not exceeding $200, and appeals from the summary judgments of magistrates. In 1889, pursuant to the federal Speedy Trials Act, the Nova Scotia government also conferred a limited criminal jurisdiction on County Court judges with an act establishing County Judges' Criminal Courts (later County Court Judges' Criminal Courts), subject to a right of appeal to the Supreme Court.

Custodial history: Custodial history is unknown.

Physical condition: Some spines are broken.

General note: Previously known as Colchester County Court House series.

Creator: Nova Scotia. Supreme Court (Colchester County) (1802-)

Administrative history: In 1774, the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia's circuit system was established by an act of the legislature. In this system, judges travelled to outlying areas to hold court. By 1834 the initial requirement to have cases heard in the presence of two or more judges was removed and a single judge hearing cases on circuit was invested with the full powers and jurisdiction of the court in Halifax. Sittings in the District of Colchester (part of Halifax County until Colchester became separate in 1835) were established in 1802. Although initially in Onslow, the court's place of sitting moved to Truro in 1804.

Custodial history: Custodial history is unknown.

CFS Debert Museum Collection (97.65.1 – 19)

Date: 1941 – 1984 (Creation)

Physical description: 5 cm of textual records; 4 maps; 4 technical drawings

Creator: CFS Debert Museum

Administrative history: CFS Debert Museum was dedicated to the history of and located at Canadian Forces Station at Debert, Nova Scotia. The camp was built in 1940 to accommodate 20,000 military personnel and 6100 civilian employees. It was the site of the first Canadian British Commonwealth air training station and the last major staging point for troops going overseas. Following the conclusion of World War II the station was dramatically reduced. In 1959 the RCAF moved out, however the Canadian Navy continued to use the airfield until 1969. During the 1960s the station was used as the site of the Regional Emergency Government Headquarters fallout shelter. It became part of NATO's integrated communications system. Throughout the 1990s the station was continually downsized until it was closed in 1997. The museum also closed at this time.

Method of Acquisition: Records were donated by the Museum upon its closing in 1997.
